

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect For The Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White streamer—fair; Blue—rain or snow; With black above—will warm; If black's beneath—colden will be; Unless black's shown—no change we'll see

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty days ending at 6 o'clock to-morrow evening.

"UNKNOWN."

On the Hampshire's sleeping shore, Where the winding woodland skirts the sea, And the turbid waters rush and roar, On their headlong journey to the sea, Stands a towering oak, Where the cannons jar'd, And the hot shells broke, And the bullets raved, Its giant trunk and its rugged arms, When we swept by with its wild arms, Close beside that landmark of the past, O'erguarded by branches bending low, That answer in unison to the blast, And more like sentinels to and fro, On the shadowy ground, To keep the unknown place, Lies the shapeless mound, Of a grave unknown— The black and chiselled resting place Of a heart borne down in the battle's face, No willing feet ever venture there, To lay sweet offerings above the head, No heart unobscured itself in prayer In memory of the forgotten dead, But the soft sunlight, Thro' the leaves' lining day, And the stars at night, On their silent way, Smile on the hallowed spot of ground, While the waters pursue their endless round, And the violet lies to the mystic voice, That calls them up from their lowly bed, And, smiling amid their tears, rejoice At the measure of fragrance they may shed, And the whispering trees, That commune with the winds, And the sighing breeze, When twilight begins, All murmur in concert of the brave, Who calmly sleep in the "unknown" grave, Sleep on, my brother, sleep on and rest, Nor heed the world in his turn turmoil, Peace to thy ashes, for thou art best Above the children of fruitless toil, For the earthy mold Will uplifted be, Till the eyes behold, Through the mystery That now envelops the slumbering clay, The recompense for the "blue" and "gray." —W. W. Kline in Blue and Gray.

COLORED ODDFELLOWS.

An imposing display made by them in procession yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the members of Maysville Star Lodge No. 1948, G. T. O. O. F., had Thanksgiving service at the Bethel Baptist Church.

The Rev. William Alford of New Richmond delivered an appropriate sermon. The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion.

At half past 1 a procession was formed, headed by Silas Marshall, and the members made a fine display as they marched to the church.

Delegates were present from Flemingsburg, Maysville, Ripley and George town.

The Sisters of the Household of Ruth were present also.

It was a great day for the colored Odd-fellows of Maysville.

ANOTHER FORGED CHECK.

A Slick Duck Cashes Thompson & McAttee's Check at Vanceburg.

He used the name of H. W. Worrell. But it is just as likely to be Jones. Friday was an unlucky day for Thomas H. Carter of Vanceburg.

That day he bought some experience that he will not soon forget.

H. W. Worrell was in Vanceburg and in want of wealth. He was the possessor of a check for $39.50, payable to his order, and purporting to have been drawn on the First National Bank by Thompson & McAttee of this city.

This he presented at the Deposit Bank, duly indorsed, and proffered Dr. T. S. Clark the Cashier's letter telling him who he was.

But the Doctor wouldn't have it; he wanted some one in the flesh to step up and say who Worrell was, and who would write his name across the back of the check to keep Worrell's name company.

And it wasn't long until Worrell cashiered Colonel T. H. Carter up against Cashier Clark's counter and got the scads on a piece of paper in words and figures following:

No. 1914. MAYSVILLE, KY., May 3, 1894.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK, $39.50.

Pay to the order of H. W. Worrell—

Thirty-nine and — 50/100 DOLLARS.

Thompson & McAttee.

Across the back were the names—H. W. Worrell, T. H. Carter.

Worrell pocketed the proceeds and was not long in getting out of town.

The proceeding was peculiar in several respects, but none the less successful. The check was drawn on a bank where Thompson & McAttee have no account.

It was numbered; they never number their checks.

The firm's name across the left and was printed with a rubber stamp; was also the number and the date.

The Deposit Bank sent the paper here for collection, and when the First National received it Saturday it was at once taken to the State National, and being handed to Paying Teller John Duley he at once pronounced it bogus.

There had been an attempt to imitate the handwriting of Alitte Thompson, but Mr. Duley was too familiar with the signature to be deceived.

Dr. Clark, Cashier of the Vanceburg Bank, happened to be in the city at the time, and by his direction the paper was protested. This will add $3 more, so when Mr. Carter goes he will be $41.50 worse off than when he formed the acquaintance of H. W. Worrell, Slick Duck.

Worrell is described as well dressed, gentlemanly, and wears a blonde mustache and a smile.

The People's Building Association Saturday night issued 350 new shares of stock.

The Limestone Building Association closed its March series with 442 new shares of stock.

Robert A. Cochran, Jr., will put down a concrete walk leading through his beautiful lawn.

Rev. Dr. C. Pope of Millersburg preached two excellent sermons at the M. E. Church, South, yesterday.

There were five additions to the Central Presbyterian Church yesterday, and one to the First Baptist Church.

Miss Mamie Wheeler is suffering from a partial loss of her eye. She is in Cincinnati under the care of Dr. Ayres.

Professor McKinley of Dover was in the city Saturday. He says there is no truth whatever in the report that he is going to marry Mrs. Jerry C. Grove.

The L. and N. will sell round trip tickets from Maysville to Lexington and return, on account of the races, for $2.80, May 7th to 14th, good returning until May 16th.

There were 150 in attendance on the Sunday school of the M. E. Church, South, yesterday—the largest number ever had on the roll-call. Among those present was one gentleman who had not been there before for 51 years.

CONJUGAL LIFE.

The First Data Ever Officially Gathered in the United States.

The data on conjugal life in the United States gathered by the Government shows that of the total population of 62,682,250 in 1890 almost three-fifths were single, a little more than one-third were married, and not quite one-twentieth were widowed. Divorces constituted a small fraction of one per cent.

Of 38,067,880 males, 19,943,578 were single, 11,295,222 married, 815,487 widowed and 49,101 divorced.

Of 30,591,370 females, 17,183,968 were single, 11,136,196 married, 2,154,615 widowed and 7,895 divorced.

The proportion of widows, says the report, was nearly three times as great as of widowers, indicating that a greater portion of the widowers remarried than widows, while the figures show that divorced men also have remarried to a greater extent than divorced women.

ELI PERKINS TALKS.

Drift of News From All Over the Republic.

REMARKS ON THE UPHEAVAL

In All Variations and Professions the Stress of Democratic Times Is Felt—The Minstrels Who Sang Cleveland in Are Now Greeting Him Out—Pertinent Stories.

Eli Perkins passed through Cincinnati a few days ago, bound for Texas, El Paso, Los Angeles and the California Fair at San Francisco. When asked about the news from New York he said:

"We are having a political earthquake all over the country. The Athens earthquake is nothing but a gentle vibration compared to it. Every wage earner in the land is alarmed at the drop in wages and the idle men caused by a threatened drop of one-third of the tariff. Clergymen, teachers and doctors are affected and the theatrical profession is paralyzed."

"Are they striking back?"

"Yes, every actor and minstrel who sang for Cleveland then, is now geying him out. At Palmer's Theater in New York the night before I left the chief villain started to jump from the precipice."

"Don't do that, rash man!" screamed the leading man. "Do you want to kill yourself? Are you insane?"

"Insane! I voted for Cleveland!"

"Jump, lunatic! Jump!" yelled several actors at once, while the whole audience clapped their hands and cheered. The great audience with electric quickness sympathized with the cause of a Nation's calamity."

"The night before," continued Eli, "a little boy came out at Tony Pastor's, in the Tammany building, wearing a Harrison white hat and swinging an American flag. Immediately the cheers drowned the orchestra, but when the little fellow stepped to the front and opened his mouth to sing there was utter silence. Then his infantile voice warbled out:

"When Grandpa's hat came back—but the whole audience broke loose. Cheers could be heard a block away and they then drowned a Tammany meeting next door. Sympathy for the sentiment and remembrance of the prosperous past brought tears to many eyes. It was a genuine joy at the sight of the emblem of last year's prosperity and a prayer for it to come back again. It was a tribute to Harrison and the policy that made the whole country prosperous."

"How do you find the change in other sections?" asked the reporter.

"Why, they had a revolution of sentiment in Missouri two weeks ago. Old St. Joseph, always Democratic, went 4,000 Republican, and so followed Kansas City, Sedalia, St. Louis, Warrensburg, Galatin and old Jefferson City, the capital, never before Republican. Missouri would go Republican tomorrow."

"And Indiana and Ohio, what of them?"

"Why, I see they had a Republican newspaper in old Democratic Jeffersonville. They took the Wilson Bill met a Waterloo in New Albany, Lafayette and Logansport, Muncie and Lawrenceburg. They even turned down Free-trader Voorhees in Terre Haute and made a Republican city of it. And Ohio, which was 90,000 for McKinley, refused the Democratic majority in Sora's district by 2,000. This is the stronghold of Democracy—Hamilton, Dayton and Middletown."

"The fact is," said Eli, as he left on the train, "we Democrats have lost all sympathy by destroying wages, stopping mills and by our unparitric stupidity in killing a white republic, wiping out the Monroe Doctrine, pulling down our own Stars and Stripes and by putting up the ensign of a negro monarch in its place. We have so outraged the American spirit in the people that it will be thirty years before the people will trust our Free-trade, vote disfranchising, pension killing and wage lowering party again. All we have done is to fill the poorhouses, put down our own flag, grind the noses of our workers and fill the country with Coxy troops."

James R. Telle sold to R. M. Wallingford a lot in the Sixth Ward for $850.

The towboat William Wormald—named for our fellow citizens—of Kentucky, by the Charter Oak Coal Co. at Pomeroy, has been sold to Taylor & Roush of Spillman, Va. Va., who will change her name to New Haven and put her in the Kanawha towing trade.

AGAINST WILLIE.

"The Courier-Journal" Takes a Hand Against Breckinridge.

Sunday's Courier-Journal.

The Courier-Journal profoundly regrets the necessity which compels it, as a duty to the public and the Democracy, to depart from its rule of strict neutrality between contending candidates of the Democratic party prior to the coming of a convention or primary election. But the situation in the Ashland District, unfortunate as it is unprecedented, makes it imperative that every journal which has the good of the party at heart, which cherishes the liberty of Kentucky, which appreciates its obligations to society, shall protest with all its power against the reelection to Congress of Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge.

We do not underestimate what he has done for his party and the cause of Tariff reform in the past. But even if his ability for further usefulness were not destroyed by the miserable scandal which has darkened his name, the party could not afford to accept his services at the price it would be forced to pay. It is idle to attempt to estimate the loss to the Democratic cause which Breckinridge confessed himself to be in his testimony before a Washington jury? It is a question which transcends the limits of the Ashland District and of the state itself. It is a question in which the people of the entire State are deeply interested, and it is a question which we have no doubt will be answered by the citizens of the Bluegrass in a manner which shall not only vindicate their own self-respect, but gratify the millions of worthy men and women who are the mainstay and hope of our Republic—its civilization, and who are shocked at the mere possibility of an official honor to such a man as Colonel Breckinridge, at such a time as this.

That part of his speech yesterday devoted to the scandal in which he has figured were better passed over in pity. It was a strange exhibition of marvellous effrontery, checked taste and mentally and morally oblique causality. It is amazing that such a plea could be made by one of Colonel Breckinridge's intelligence and age.

AND now the 325 miners employed by the McLean County Coal Company, of which Vice-President STEVENSON is President, have decided to strike. They will ask for increased wages.

BRADSTREET'S review of the state of trade for last week says the movement of general merchandise throughout the country is smaller in volume. Spring trade is finished and orders for fall delivery are, with few exceptions, not meeting expectations. Jobbers in leading lines at almost all larger cities report sales almost without exception as of a hand-to-mouth description. The extension of the coal and coke strike, accompanied by riots at Cleveland and Mesaba, has emphasized the depression. The industrial situation, therefore, has not improved. Strikes of iron ore miners, among building trades, with an extension of the coal miners strike, and the almost total cessation of operations in the coke regions, have swelled the total number of idle industrial workers to 215,000. Shut downs of industrial concerns dependent on coke or coal for fuel are increasing, notwithstanding an attempt of coal operators and operators to get together to arrange a basis of settlement.

More people, and especially most merchants and certainly all importers, says The Commercial Gazette, understand the difference between ad valorem and specific duties. Both have been tried. Largely the ad valorem system predominated until experience demonstrated that it opened the doors to fraud. False invoices were manufactured. Consuls were bribed and honest importing merchants suffered. In every contest between honesty and dishonesty in interpreting the laws and in adopting measures under the laws the honest man is always driven to the wall. Specific duties mean the value of the goods at the port of entry. Invoices are not ignored, of course, but they are not final; thus honesty has a reasonable chance in the conduct of business.

Mr. MANNING, Secretary of the Treasury in Mr. CLEVELAND'S first Administration, influenced by the opinion of importing merchants of high standing, expressed his disapproval of the ad valorem system, and supported his views by strong arguments. The Republican Congress, acting upon sound principles and governed by the experience of many years, adopted the specific system very largely. Now comes the Democratic Congress, through the Wilson Tariff Bill and through the amended bill which they are struggling to get through the Senate, and undertakes to go back to the ad valorem system. There does not seem to be any better reason for this than that it was a Republican measure. This is probably sufficient for the Democratic mind, which is manifestly cast in a very small mold. That party would turn back the hands of the clock any day in order to show their disapproval of Republican methods even though this involves questions of honesty and reform.

Leading importing merchants of the East who want to be honest have protested against the ad valorem system, which opens the doors in many different ways to dishonesty. Under such circumstances, as we have said, honesty is always at a disadvantage, and, therefore, the tendency is to increase dishonesty. The latter needs no encouragement other than an opportunity to lie and steal.

THE Norton Iron Works at Ashland, that has lately been turning out 100 tons of iron a day, has been forced to bank its fires because of inability to secure a coke supply, and will remain idle until the strike is settled. The entire plant, usually employing 300 men and boys, is at a standstill. Oh, my! how business is reviving since the Sherman Law has been repealed.

The bill to improve the method of accounting in the Treasury Department passed by the House proposes a reduction of 135 in the number of clerks employed, making a saving of nearly $190,000 in the salary list. This is certainly a desirable stroke of economy; but why don't you cut down the expensive specialties that are being fed at the empty benches of the House?

In 1891 the Democrats carried the Ninth Congressional District by over 3,000 majority, electing Congressman PAXTER. In 1893, two years later, taking the county, Representative and Senatorial elections as the basis, the Republicans carried the District by 500 majority. We are of the opinion that the Ninth is yet Republican, and that Hon. SAMUEL J. PUGH can beat the hind sights of Hon. ROLLA C. HART.

DISCOVERED AND RECTIFIED, TOO.

One of the biggest overhauls in the country was in the town bearing the President's name. In 1893, Cleveland, Ohio, went Democratic by 4,000. This month it went Republican by 5,000. Cleveland is a manufacturing city and its workmen have discovered their mistake.

NO TRUCE WITH THIS WILSON BILL.
Boston Journal.
It is the patriotic duty on the part of the Republican Senators to interpose every possible barrier to and use every patriotic weapon to block the passage of the Wilson Bill. Every week's delay is so much time gained for the business interests of the country. The tariff smashers are public enemies, and to resist them is a duty.

A happy home is the sweetest type of heaven on earth. It is the only place that can truly be called heaven on earth. A happy home is not composed of an elegant mansion, expensively and expensively furnished; it is love that makes the happiest homes. Love hides all faults and defects; love covers a multitude of sins; love is the keynote of true happiness. Show me a family that are cool and indifferent to each other, and I will point you out a house that is as gloomy and dismal as a tomb. Without love there can be no cheerfulness and sunshine in the house. It really requires very little to make home happy. If everyone has a warm, tender heart, and each individual is always looking and searching for its greatest charm. Our peace and comfort is derived from the most common blessings of life; a thankful heart is a blessing; a pleasant voice is the sweetest music ever heard; a kind look, a smiling face, the most beautiful picture to behold; no artist's brush could paint anything half so lovely. And yet these things cost but little, very little; even the most humble can afford them. If he or she will. The humblest cottage may be filled with love, sunshine, cheerfulness, kindness and sweetness.
